Pizza Gardens

Today on Gardening in a Minute: pizza gardens.

Pizza gardens are an exciting and creative endeavor that the whole family can enjoy.

These gardens include plants that you can harvest to create delicious homemade pizza, and are often shaped like pizza pies.

Prepare the site like you would for any vegetable garden. Try making a circular bed, dividing it into six equal wedges. You’ll plant three vegetables and three herbs, one for each wedge.

For herbs, try oregano, parsley, and basil. Onions, peppers, and tomatoes are good veggie staples.

Experiment with different varieties for the flavors you like best. All of these plants require regular watering and other care, and at least six hours of sunlight. Add mulch to keep the weeds down.

In a few months your pizza garden will be both beautiful and edible!
